QUANTITY	CATALOG NUMBER	DESCRIPTION
1 ADULT	ASSI•TH-101	The tables maintain enough weight to resist all passive torsion force of the pronated or supinated forearm. Around its perimeter numerous notches provide anchor spots for the ball chains. Slots serve as placements for the rubber bands' sliding hooks. The tables can be used facing either way to accommodate both left and right hand surgical procedures.
1 SET OF 2 PCS.	ASSI•TH-102	Elevated chain holders are positioned anywhere around the edge of the table and serve as elevated anchor points for chains wherever an elevated pull or clearance above the flexed fingers is needed.
1 SET OF 2 PCS.	ASSI•TH-103	Chain holder hooks enable one chain to provide an anchor point for another chain. They are used to facilitate proximal retraction along the axis of the limb.
1 SET OF 2 PCS.	ASSI•TH-104	Ball chains with hooks, 32cm long. Chain is used for wound edge retraction and retraction of fingertips. The chain, engaged in the table edge, or the elevated chain holders, or in the chain holder hooks, has an interval of 6cm.
1 SET OF 4 PCS.	ASSI•TH-105	Ball chains with hooks, 21cm long. Chain is used for wound edge retraction and retraction of fingertips. The chain, engaged in the table edge, or the elevated chain holders, or in the chain holder hooks, has an interval of 6cm.
1 SET OF 2 PCS.	ASSI•TH-106	Ball chains without hooks, 26cm long, are used to secure arm and wrist fixation. They are secured at each end to the table edge.
1 SET OF 4 PCS.	ASSI•TH-107	Tendon hooks, when attached to the hooks of TH-104/105, facilitate the traumatic retraction of tendons and wound edges.
1 SET OF 4 PCS.	ASSI•TH-108	Rubber band sliding hooks are placed at any point along the slots to provide anchor points for the rubber bands.
1 SET OF 5 PCS.	ASSI•TH-109	Rubber bands are used to provide a downward pull to the various digits at any point along their length.
